Note: The Cerro de la Silla is a particularly distinctive, double-peaked mountain dominating the metropolis of Monterrey near the northern border of Mexico. Monterrey, which along with San Antonio (now in Texas), served as one locus of shifting capital cities of the historical borderlands frontier between Mexico and the Texas territory. "What Dragonfly Doesn't Savoir Faire", originally undertaken as part of the P.O.E.M.M. iPad Poetry Project, is a "snapshot" of my response to that work, newly crafted for this issue of Zahir.
